

May 17th, 2020

Dear Diary,

Today marks 2 months after quarantining. I'm starting to believe that it won't actually be over in 2 weeks. Who knows what else they're lying about?

September 9th, 2020

Dear Diary,

I've been watching Fox News again. Some of the things they're saying about Dr. Fauci are really insightful and eye-opening. Who knew our own government officials could be this corrupt?

February 21st, 2021

Dear Diary,

I've been looking around at other news sites. Fox News is good, but the liberal media forces them to not give us all the facts. Luckily, I've found some sites that are independent of other news companies that the liberal media hasn't gotten to yet. Hopefully they will help me decide what to do about these vaccines everyone started talking about.

May 23rd, 2021

Dear Diary,

Today Harry read a story about how they use fetal tissue in vaccines. What has this world come to? I can only hope they never force my children to take them.

August 5th, 2021

Dear Diary,

Harry tested positive for covid today. He feels tired, but is doing alright. I've reached out to some of my friends on Facebook to find out about some home remedies. In the meantime, we're following our President's guidance, and I'll buy some hydroxychloroquine tomorrow at the store.

August 11th, 2021

Dear Diary,

We took Harry to the hospital today when he started struggling to breathe. The nurse asked if he was vaccinated and of course we said no. Normally I'd be angry about the invasion of our privacy (Hippo laws!) but I am too worried about my Harry. The kids are doing alright, but they are worried about their dad.

August 13th, 2021

Harry passed away today.

I'm just not sure what to do with myself. The kids are devastated, and the youngest is asking when dad will be back. In the last moments I asked the nurse if he could be vaccinated but she said it was too late. I'm making appointments for the kids to get vaccinated. I can't do this again.